Elba BOE votes to hire Ted Watson as acting superintendent

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba Board of Education held its regular monthly board meeting Thursday, June 13, and during the meeting, the board voted to hire Ted Watson to be the acting superintendent beginning July 1, 2024.

Just prior to approving the hire of Watson to be the acting superintendent, the board also approved a motion to authorize and sign an agreement reached with current superintendent Chris Moseley. Board president Johnny Senn said Moseley had signed the agreement earlier in the day last Thursday at the board attorney's office.

Board member Kristy Astemborski made the motion for the board to authorize and accept the agreement reached with Mr. Moseley. The motion passed with no opposition.

Following the board meeting, board member confirmed, when asked,

Board member Debra Clark makes a plea to 'work together'

Elba School Board member Debra Clark made a plea to "come together" during the school board meeting held last Thursday morning.

"I have been sitting on this corner now for a couple of months and mostly been observing," Clark said. "I don't say much - I am directly listening, and people, we are working against each other. If we don't get it together our school is going to fail. It is going to fail. There is no other way to put it. The only way we are going to dig out of this is to put the children first and teachers next."

Once those things are done along with getting qualified people in place doing what they are supposed to do, Clark said the school system would come together.

"As a new member, I don't know much. I'm learning," she added. "What I do know is when you have a group working together for a common goal and you are working separately, you are not going to reach that goal."

She made a plea for all to come together and do things right.

"Please...not for me. For the children, the teachers, and the school," she said. "I am not pointing this at the superintendent. I am pointing it at everybody that has an affiliation."

Clark said she does not know a lot of people as she has always worked elsewhere, but she said one does not have to know a lot of people. Instead, she said what does need to be known is if people have the proper qualifications in place.

"We don't always have to like each other...we better love each other...but we don't have to like each other," she said. "That is okay as long as we can be adults and go forward."

that the agreement indicated Moseley's last day as superintendent would be June 30th.

After that date, the school system will continue to pay him for his current contract as superintendent, which does not end until Oct. 31, 2024. The agreement reached was for him to leave the job early to allow for an acting superintendent to come to work while the board searches for a new superintendent for the school system.

Prior to the board voting to approve Watson as the acting superintendent, Senn said he had discussed him with each board member individually. He said Watson is a retired superintendent that spent 11 years with Andalusia City Schools.

Senn said Watson comes highly recommended to serve as the acting superintendent.

"Ted is good people," Moseley added.

Auburn student in Elba this summer via Living Democracy program

A new face roaming around Elba this summer is that of Auburn University student Elisha Oyola. He is in Elba working through a partnership between Elba's Restoration 154 organization and Auburn's Living Democracy program.

"We are excited to welcome Elisha to Elba this summer," said Laurie Chapman of Restoration 154. "We always enjoy getting to know our Living Democracy student from Auburn and to learn what unique perspectives they will bring to our town."

Oyola, age 19, is majoring in political science at Auburn. He is from Opelika, Ala.

He said he feels his partnership through the Living Democracy program is to learn and listen to the needs of the community by immersing himself in the community and hopefully leaving it better than he found it.

Elisha Oyola is spending his summer in Elba working as part of the Auburn University's Living Democracy partnership with Restoration 154.

"I have a lot of motivation and am eager to work in Elba," Oyola said. "While here I hope to engage with all generations, groups, and demographics of the community to understand what their views on a successful community are. I also hope to make lasting connections with community members. Chapman said it is evident that Oyola is a go-getter. Justin Maddox, a founder of Restoration 154, said the Living Democracy program has helped create and cultivate relationships within the community, in a great part due to the networking the students undertake each summer.

"I believe our city benefits from the new points of view and the examples of civic involvement the students display," Maddox said. "The students benefit from seeing the real impact they can have in a short period of time when they are truly engaged."

All agreed they are looking forward to a great summer in Elba with the organizations working together again to better the community.

The Elba Chamber of Commerce will host its Annual Awards Banquet on Thursday evening, June 27, at the National Security Conference Center. Social time will be at 6 p.m. with dinner served at 6:30 p.m. The guest speaker will be Lt. Governor Will Ainsworth. To purchase tickets, call (334) 897-3125.

He received a gift bag and a certificate. As the men entered the center last Friday, the ladies lined the hallway and greeted them by singing "Happy Father's Day to You," the tune to Happy Birthday. Each gentleman was escorted to his seat, and the ladies served them. The tables were dressed with black table cloths, black chair covers and accents of blue and yellow. The men were given a bag of gifts and all left filled with joy.

Elba Chamber planning "Let Freedom Ring" event for July 4th

The Elba Chamber of Commerce is busy planning this year's edition of the "Let Freedom Ring" Fourth of July celebration.

Once again, the event will feature a golf cart parade around the square to get the activities kicked off, beginning at 6 p.m.

Line up for the parade will be held near the Elba Public Library at 5:30 p.m. Elba's own Bill Brueckner will again bring his band, Blind Skeleton, to his hometown to perform in concert.

Brueckner says he looks forward to this event all year long! The band will perform an array of classic rock and country music, and more!

The event also will include plenty of food and other vendors throughout the evening for all to enjoy.

Elba Chamber director Sandy Williams said Troy Bank and Trust will sponsor the inflatables for kids this year at no charge. The Elba Masonic Lodge also will be providing free watermelon for all to enjoy while celebrating the nation's independence.

The highlight of the night will again be the fireworks display at 9 p.m. This is done annually by Elba native Mike Holderfield.

"Mike provides one of if not the best fireworks show around," Williams said. "It is always a wonderful show for all to see!"

Williams said the fireworks show this year is being sponsored by Ben E. Keith Foods.

"We encourage all to come out and enjoy the night's festivities," Williams said. "Bring your lawn chairs to sit and relax the music and fireworks!"

The event is held on Elba's downtown square. There is no charge to attend.

Cuzin Lou Lou and Sister had a wedding to attend over the weekend, and of course, Sister would not allow Lou Lou to go in her normal summer weekend attire – shorts and a t-shirt! For Sister, attending a wedding meant only one thing...she needed a new dress and shoes. For a split-second Lou Lou thought this would be a first as Sister had only purchased a new dress for the occasion. However, on the day of the event, she decided none of her many, many pair of shoes would do!

So, off to the store Sister returned to purchase a new pair of shoes for the wedding too. Of course, she explained after making the shoe purchase that these could be used and worn for many other things too. We'll see...

Lou Lou did go with Sister to the store to dress shop, but unfortunately, the only ones she found that she liked did not have her size available.

"What are you going to do?" Sister asked in a concerned tone since she could not imagine not having a new dress for the event.

"I'm going shopping in your closet," Lou Lou responded. "You've got plenty of options, most of which you've either only worn once or not at all!" Sister wanted to be upset by that statement, but she knew Lou Lou was telling the truth.

Just as Lou Lou anticipated, she quickly found a dress that would work for her hanging in Sister's closet. As for shoes...she also had a pair of her own that would work perfectly.

Easy peasy!

The biggest shock of the day came when Lou Lou told Sister on the way home from the wedding that she really liked the dress she opted for from Sister's closet.

"I think I'll just keep this one," she told Sister. "You'll never even miss it!"

Sister thought about it for a moment and agreed it would be okay for Lou Lou to keep the dress.

"Eh...I've already worn it for something anyways. You can have it," was Sister's reply.

What a beautiful process it is for Lou Lou. Sister goes and buys the new dresses, and Lou Lou just takes the ones Sister no longer wants after she has worn them a time or two. It is great having a "shop-aholic" Sister... at least it is for Lou Lou.

Until next time...God Bless and Keep Smiling!

Windy Thoughts

with Linda Hodge, Editor

We missed seeing the flags flying around the square in Elba last Friday for Flag Day, but we are hoping they will be swaying in the air once again for the upcoming 4th of July celebration in the city. It is a beautiful sight to see the flags flying around each side of the square...add in extra patriotic decorations on the courthouse and fountain, and it is definitely something to see if you love the Red, White and Blue!

Recently, we were in Birmingham with friends, and it was our task to find somewhere "good" for us to eat lunch. Our group was staying near the downtown portion of Birmingham in the Avondale area. A search of restaurants for the area led us to Saw's BBQ. On the restaurant's website, we read the history of how Saw's BBQ came to be, and we also noticed it has been proclaimed at some point to be the "Best BBQ in Alabama" by Southern Living. Being from Elba where we have our own 2020 winner of the Bama's Best BBQ from another competition, we took it as a challenge to try Saw's to see how we thought it measured up to our JJ's. The BBQ was very tasty at Saw's and we enjoyed our meal tremendously, however, our takeaway from the meal is that the folks at Southern Living need to make a trip further south to Elba, Alabama next time they are trying to determine the "Best BBQ in Alabama!" Not only do we think JJ's would know them out the water with their BBQ, but those folks could also try the Ranch House in Elba. It too would get their taste-buds watering in our opinion. The more we try BBQ away from home, the more we realize just how good we have it here in Elba when it comes to this food-favorite.

While at Saw's BBQ, we did try an appetizer that was... in a word...FANTASTIC! The offer a BBQ Pork Rinds with Pimento Cheese and Pepper Jelly appetizer. Oh my goodness! This appetizer was so good that even though we stopped eating it when our main dish arrived at the table, we kept reaching back over to just one more pork rind dipped in the pimento cheese and pepper jelly. Saw's definitely knows what it is doing when it comes to pork rinds and pimento cheese. That was the best we have ever tasted anywhere, and all four at our table agreed.

We've noticed the Splash Pad in Elba has been busy with little ones enjoying it recently. When the Elba Parks and Recreation brought this to Elba several years back, we thought it was a great idea. It has proven to be that and more. It gives children from all over the local area a great, safe place to enjoy "getting wet" during the summer. With the picnic tables and Tiger Town playground also on site, it also serves as a wonderful place to hold group gatherings. We just love seeing the smiles of the youngsters as they enjoy this free recreational venue, and the screams of laughter and joy make it even better.

During a meeting last week, the Elba Board of Education voted to hire an acting superintendent beginning July 1st. An agreement with the current superintendent has him stepping aside on June 30th. Now, he will still be paid the remainder of his contract, which does not end until Oct.

31, but as of July 1, there will be a new (temporary) person sitting atop the hill leading the school system while a search for the next superintendent of schools continues. The board seemed to be the most prepared it had been in a few months for a meeting, and it turned out to be a professional and productive meeting all around. We hope this is a sign that everyone will now work together for the betterment of the schools. It is definitely time to put personal feelings aside and instead put the children first.

We do hear good things about the acting superintendent that will begin work July 1. Everyone we've spoken with that knows him personally says he is a "good guy" and will work hard while he is the acting super for Elba to do a good job. We like to hear that!!

It has definitely been hot recently! We encourage all to take the extra precautions to stay hydrated if you are going to be spending a lot of time out in the heat! Drink plenty of water, wear cool, breathable clothing, and take breaks to cool off. If you can save that outside work for eitehr early in the morning or later in the day.

On Monday, June 17, the New Hope Senior Citizens Center celebrated the heavenly birthday of Miss Arlillian "Bonnie" Woodard. Miss Bonnie was the driver for New Hope Senior Center until an accident occurred and later caused her passing in 2015. The senior center still celebrates her life, love and legacy. Center director Conzuella Banks said, "we were so blessed to have her daughter, sisters, brother, other family members and friends to join us to celebrate her today (Monday)." Bonnie will forever be in the hearts of those at the senior center as they continue to celebrate her life and legacy. Above, family members are shown at the birthday celebration held Monday of this week.

All-terrain wheelchair makes Troy University arboretum walking trails accessible for all

Troy University arboretum's more than 10 miles of walking trails are now fully accessible to the public, thanks to the donation of an all-terrain wheelchair courtesy of the Hank Poore Foundation.

The GRIT Freedom Chair was presented on Friday, June 7, by Hank Poore, Foundation founder, and Ashley Ferry, executive director.

"I am excited to be here to give TROY the Freedom Chair to allow individuals the opportunity to go on the trails," he said. "This chair will allow their students who require a wheelchair to enjoy nature."

Dr. Alvin Diamond, arboretum director and biology professor, said their goal was to make the arboretum trails accessible to everyone. Because the existing nature trails at the arboretum are naturally-surfaced with exposed roots, uneven slopes, areas of loose sandy soil and seasonally wet spots, grant applications to pave them were unsuccessful. Instead, Diamond said they looked for grants to obtain an all-terrain wheelchair.

"Access to natural areas within Pike County and throughout Southeast Alabama for wheelchair users and those with paralysis is extremely limited at this time. We wanted to make the arboretum trails accessible to everyone," he said. "Providing this all-terrain wheelchair will allow students and residents to explore the full extent of the arboretum and participate in all of the activities we have to offer."

"We are very grateful to the Hank Poore Foundation for funding our grant and providing this service to the Troy community and surrounding areas."

Jonah McWaters, a TROY graduate who became paralyzed after a car accident in January 2004, lived an active lifestyle before his accident and has strived since to maintain that lifestyle—he is a long-time employee of Troy Parks and Recreation and competed for a spot on the 2012 U.S. Paralympic Team.

McWaters had the opportunity to test drive the Freedom Chair on the trails and said it was a great addition for the community.

"People that have had accidents or are born a different way just want to be included in everyday activities, like taking a walk with friends," he said. "I did all this stuff before my accident, and now this provides an opportunity to get back out and do it again. Everyone wants to be thought of, so to even think about having this as an opportunity is amazing. Now, even though I'm different, I don't look different because I'm with the group and we're going along the trails. It's awesome."

Based in Tuscaloosa, Ala., the Hank Poore Foundation was established in 2020 by Poore and his mother, Kathy Poore, with the mission of providing opportunities and experiences for people with disabilities in order to foster authentic connections between individuals, groups and community.

"I personally have had opportunities to do these kinds of things, and a lot of individuals may not have had the same opportunities as me," Poore said. "This is a way to give back to the community and allow individuals to have the same opportunities as me."

The Freedom Chair is available for use to students, faculty and the public at no cost. To coordinate use of the chair and to ensure there is a volunteer to assist in demonstrating how it's used, contact Diamond at adiamond@troy.edu.

The Best Time to Plan Your Funeral: Sooner Than You Think

While it's not the most cheerful topic, planning your funeral is a practical way to ensure your wishes are carried out and to spare your family from unnecessary stress during a difficult time. But when is the right time to start this process?

The answer is simple: there isn't one perfect age to start planning your funeral. The decision depends on your individual circumstances, preferences, and financial situation.

Some people begin thinking about funeral planning in their 30s or 40s, often after life-changing events like marriage, starting a family, or experiencing the loss of a loved one. At this stage, you have a clear sense of your values and preferences, and you can lock in funeral costs before they increase due to inflation.

Planning in the 50-60's age range is quite common as retirement approaches and thoughts of the future become more present. Many people see it as a way to tie up loose ends and organize their affairs.

Planning Later in Life. Even if you're further along in life, it's never too late to make your wishes known. Discussing your preferences with family or documenting them in a written plan can be incredibly helpful for your loved ones.

When deciding when to plan, consider these factors:

- Your Health. If you have any health concerns, planning sooner rather than later ensures your wishes are known.
- Family History. If your family has a history of certain diseases, early planning might be advisable.
- Financial Situation. If you want to pre-pay for your funeral, your budget and financial goals will influence the timing.

I went with my teenage grandson and his Mom to a mini-golf course over the weekend and for the first time ever lost without actually letting him win. I'm not sure if my putter was too short or the course had too many dips and swells, but he had no trouble beating both me and his Mom. I guess the next time we go I will have to show him that his Granddaddy is still a threat and get revenge (lol).

For what it is worth....

 Anyone that thinks being a student-athlete in high school isn't a sacrifice should drop by any local school one weekday and see all the boys and girls hard at work conditioning to get ready for the upcoming season. Being a good athlete takes discipline and sacrifice, and having to give up a part of their summer finds out just is willing to make the sacrifice. Believe me, it is much more than just throwing a ball around and running around a track. It is hard work, and everyone that dedicates themselves will improve as athletes and people, in more ways than just one.

 The Alabama High School Athletic Association announced last week that the 'Super 7' high school football championships will no longer be played at Bryant-Denny Stadium, in Tuscaloosa, and Jordan-Hare Stadium, in Auburn, due to possible conflicts of dates with the newly expanded college football playoffs. The two major colleges had hosted the state high school championship games on a rotating basis since 2009, while in 2021 Birmingham's Protective Stadium was added to the rotation, making it a three-stadium rotation. Protective Stadium will host the 'Super 7' in 2024, with a new rotation expected to be announced this summer. Mobile has shown an interest in joining the rotation and would house the seven game event at Hancock Whitney Stadium, the home field for the University of South Alabama Jaguars, the North-South All-Star high school football game, as well as a bowl game and the annual Senior Bowl. While everyone knew the expansion of the college playoffs could lead to a change, last week's announcement was still a shock to many who have enjoyed the trips to the college stadiums over the years. If the AHSAA continues to make it a three-team rotation, about the only other city big enough to host the event would be Montgomery, the home of the AHSAA and Crampton Bowl. The Montgomery Stadium has undergone many renovations in recent years and also hosts a college bowl game every season. It will certainly be interesting what cities are chosen as hosts for the games, and hopefully before long the AHSAA will make the move to send all semifinal games to neutral sites.

 In closing.... Since The Opp News ceased to exist a while back the folks over in the 'City of Opportunity.' That may keep many Opp residents out of the loop when it comes to news, but not for sports fans, as lifelong Bobcat supporter Tripp Norris has expanded his Facebook site 'Opp Bobcat Sports' to include any and all sports activities in the city. He keeps up with anything that happens at the school, all youth sports and of course, the Opp Bobcats. There are hundreds of podcasts on the YouTube channel every day, and maybe before long Tripp will make the jump to the channel and become the source of news and the face of Opp, Alabama. Keep up the good work. I know poeple in Opp are proud of what you do!

Go and Tell

It was "show and tell" day at my elementary school – a fact that I had failed to remind my mother of until it was time to leave the house! At the last minute, Mom shoved our family bread plate into my hand and sent me off to school. The plate did possess unusual color and texture, but neither my mother nor I had any idea how unique and valuable it was. My teacher, however, recognized it as a find specimen of centuries-old Majolica (muh-jah-lick-uh) were "worth who-knows-what." Needless to say, I returned home that day with not just a bread plate, but a priceless antique – wrapped, padded, and tied securely. I still own and cherish that plate. Isaiah's commission to "go and tell" was a typical charge to prophets. He was to be a messenger for God; his message was priceless because it contained divine truth. It was, for the most part, negative news – not nearly as happily heard as the good news shared by gospel ambassadors of reconciliation. The going and telling of Christians in response to Christ's commission is definitely a more joyful job than Isaiah's.

Though we must warn sinners of God's wrath and justice, the primary thrust of our message is God's love and mercy. Both warnings and promises are designed to bring people to repentance and salvation. So let us go, show and tell, never forgetting the priceless worth of the Gospel. – R.W.B.

ELBA SCHOOL NEWS

Elba High School's Trace Grantham named to AHSAA South All-Star Boys' Team in Golf

Elba High's Alyssa McFarland founds new Kindness Club

Elba High School welcomed a new club for the 2023-2024 school year.

Student Alyssa McFarland founded the Kindness Club. The first year for the Kindness Club included 22 active members.

McFarland said she started the Kindness Club to spread kindness across the school so others would feel welcome and have a sense of belonging.

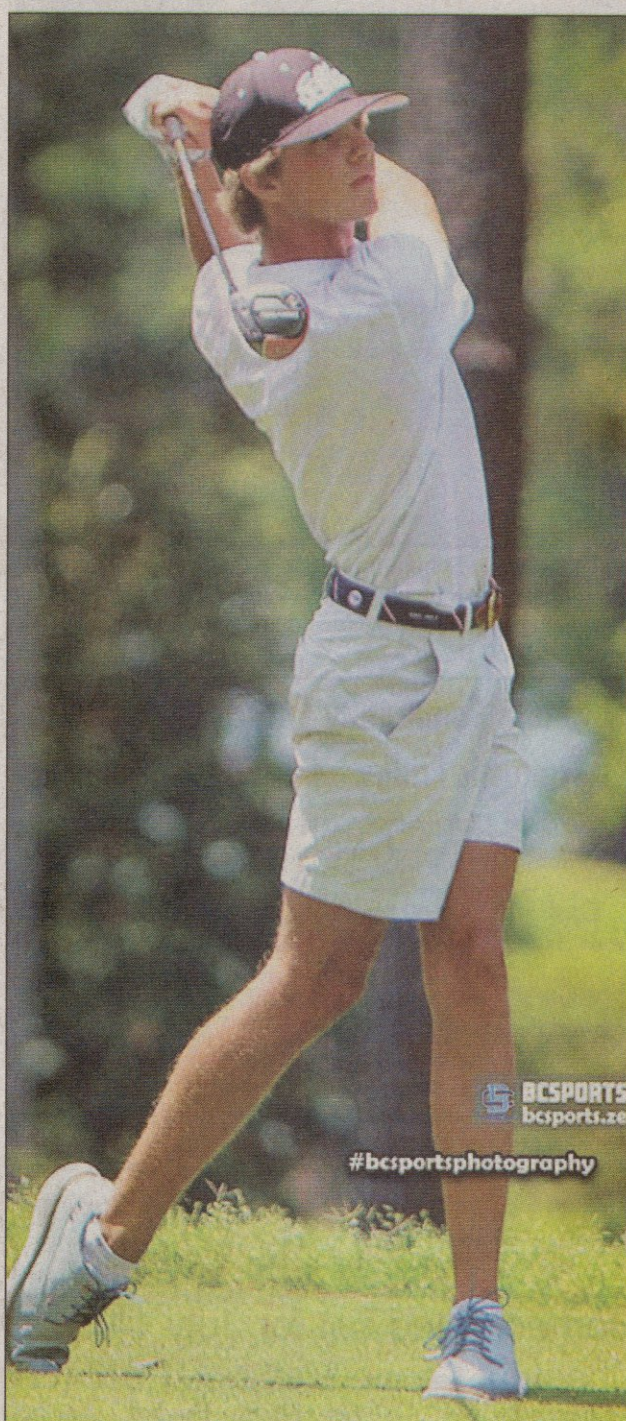

The Kindness Club represents the students of Elba who want to spread kindness and positivity. McFarland said she hopes the Kindness Club will grow in membership and support so the club can reach more people and be more active in the community.

She eventually wants to be able to raise funds and offer a scholarship!

McFarland hopes to do activities outside the school in the near future that will impact not just Elba Schools but the community as well.

Alyssa is the reigning Miss Elba and is proud to partner with her school and the community with this new student led club!

Elba Tiger golfer Trace Grantham has been named to the 2024 Alabama High School Athletic Association's South All-Star Boys' Team. A successful season on the course for the rising senior led to his being named a state All-Star by the AHSAA.

The North-South All-Star squads for the upcoming 5th annual AHSAA North-South All-Star Boys' and Girls' Golf competition have been selected, and Elba High School's Trace Grantham was named to the South Boys Team.

The All-Star teams are comprised of 2025 rising seniors, according to Brandon Dean, Director of the Alabama High School Athletic Directors & Coaches Association (AHSADCA). The AHSADCA, which operates under the auspices of the Alabama High School Athletic Association (AHSAA) will also host all-star games in basketball, baseball, softball, volleyball, boys' and girls' soccer, cross country and tennis during the All-Star Week, July 15-18. All other all-star teams have already been announced.

The complete South Boys' All-Star Roster includes: Mac Moorer, Alabama Christian Academy; Luke Ferguson, Bayside Academy; Trace Grantham, Elba High School; Jonathan Steed, Enterprise High School; Ben Holland, Smiths Station High School; Ben Halverstadt, Smiths Station High School; Will Conwell, St. Paul's Episcopal School; Walter Hensely, St. Paul's Episcopal School; and Thomas Floyd, Montgomery Academy.

Grantham will be a senior at Elba High School this upcoming school year. He helped lead the Tigers to a third place finish in the state in Class 1A/2A golf this past season.

He also was a member of the 2022 state champion golf team and 2023 state runner-up golf team for Elba High School in Class 1A/2A boys.

Trace is the son of Keith and Leslie Grantham of Elba.

Elba High Teacher Spotlight

by Austin Stricklin

Tyler Reeves is the science teacher for students in grades 9th-12th at Elba High School.

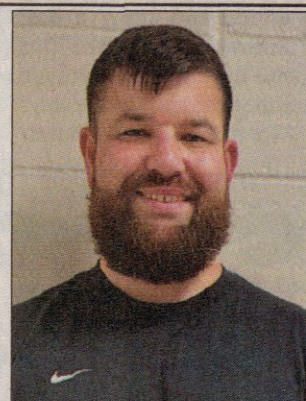

The 2023-2024 year was Coach Reeves' first year at Elba City Schools.

While teaching at Elba High, he also coaches football. He has coached many other sports such as track, soccer, and baseball.

Coach Reeves is currently working hard to start a track team for the 2024-2025 school year.

The opportunity to teach at Elba challenged Coach Reeves to learn something new. He taught history for five years before working at Elba. He became a certified science teacher before joining the staff of Elba.

Coach Reeves graduated from Huntingdon College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in education. Throughout his career, he has taught and coached at other schools such as W.S. Neal, New Brockton, and Northview, Fla. He served in the U.S. Army for four years and was a fire specialist in Tacoma, Washington.

As part of his bucket list, Coach Reeves wants to visit Italy, and Jerusalem, and see Jesus' tomb. He'd also like to see every football stadium in the SEC (Southeastern Conference).

He is inspired by his grandfather's work ethic to build relationships with his students and athletes. His favorite quote was written by Jimmy Johnson, a pro football Hall of Famer, and it states, "Treat a man as is and he will remain as he is. Treat a man as he could be and he will become what he should."

The faculty and student body are very happy to have Coach Reeves as a part of the Elba Schools family.

Coach Reeves is looking forward to building toward a bright future in Elba.

His favorite Bible verse sums this up as he works each day. Proverbs 3:5-6: "Trust the Lord with all your heart, and don't lean on your understanding; acknowledge him in all your ways, and He will guide your path."
